

M-BAR

Monolith – Bolt Action Rifle

The Halo Arms, M-BAR is the ultimate hybrid rifle which provides a rugged, versatile platform for all shooters.

The hybrid design captures the accuracy and reliability of a bolt action rifle and combines it with an adjustable aluminum super frame machined as one piece.

The aluminum stock provides an ultra stiff shooting platform which is greatly stiffer than most synthetic stocks. Rock solid dimensional stability in heat, cold, water and ice will not disturb your zero!

The action and heavy barrel are precision fit in the 100% machined stock. The heavy barrel is allowed to resonate naturally within the open forearm. The bipod may be positioned at any point on the forearm to comfortably fit the shooter and maximize front end stability.

The forearm is 2" wide and flat on both the bottom and sides. This shape contributes to accuracy for bench rest shooting yet is very comfortable for off hand shooting. Picatinny rails attach on the bottom and sides of the forearm to accommodate lights, lasers, vertical grips or any other Picatinny rail accessory you can imagine.

The pistol grip, adjustable length of pull and adjustable cheek rest allow a perfect fit for any size shooter. The three position safety is easily accessed by the trigger finger and is hand tuned for a clean light break.

The one piece Picatinny rail is extended allowing for all types of optic mounts and variable eye relief. It also increases accuracy by providing added stiffness to the action.

Fast, tough and adjustable is what makes the M-BAR stand out from the crowd and be the leader in innovation for bolt action rifles.
